Social Security Number Disclosure Notice

You must provide your social security number pursuant to state and federal law.

If you fail or refuse to provide your social security number, we will consider your initial application incomplete and return it to you. Continued failure or refusal to provide your social security number is grounds for denial of your application.

Pursuant to state and federal laws, licensing authorities must assemble your social security number with other relevant information (name, address, etc.) and transmit the data to the Family Services Division of the Department of Social Services to be used in a database for the following purposes:

- (1) locating individuals who are under an obligation to pay child support or provide child custody or visitation rights, against whom such an obligation is sought or to whom such an obligation is owed;
- (2) identifying whether an individual who owes overdue child support or who has failed to comply with a subpoena relating to paternity or child support proceedings holds or has applied for a professional or occupational license (under certain circumstances, a person who owes overdue support or fails to comply with a subpoena relating to the above-stated proceedings may be subject to an order of a court, after notice and opportunity or hearing in that court, suspending, withholding or restricting the person's license).

In addition to these uses, the licensing authorities will continue their practice of using social security numbers for the following purposes:

- (1) for internal identification purposes (e.g., some licensing authorities use your social security number as your license number);
- (2) to conduct criminal record checks (discovery of relevant criminal history may result in denial of your application, conditioned licensure or the filing of a disciplinary action against you);
- (3) to verify information provided by you in your application (discovery of false information in your application may result in denial of your application, conditioned licensure or the filing of a disciplinary action against you);
- (4) to verify licensure with another state's licensing authority for reciprocity licensure;
- (5) for identification purposes in national disciplinary databases (the discovery of a disciplined license against you in another state may result in denial of your application, conditioned licensure or the filing of a disciplinary action against you);
- (6) for test identification purposes.

Effective July 1, 2003, all persons and business entities renewing a license with the Division of Professional Registration are required to have paid all state income taxes, and also are required to have filed all necessary state income tax returns for the preceding three years. If you have failed to pay your taxes or have failed to file your tax returns your license will be subject to immediate suspension within 90 days of being notified by the Missouri Department of Revenue of any delinquency or failure to file. The requirements is found in Section 324.010, RSMo 2000, as amended.
